PREFACE

This issue of the Northern Territory Statistical Summary is the fifteenth of the series introduced by this Bureau in 1969.

In general it follows the lines of the previous issues. The contents of the previous issue have been advanced wherever possible. Tables relating to the census of population show details from the 1971 Census of Population and Housing, and some tables from the Population Count held at the end of June 1973 have been included.

I wish to thank the officers of the various branches of the Department of the Northern Territory and other departments who supplied information for inclusion in the Summary, and for their valuable assistance in collecting much of this information.

> G. J. ROBINSON Chief Statistics Officer

(a) Persons who on Census night were on hoard ships in Australian purts or travelling between two Australian ports or who were enumerated on long distance trains, buses or aircraft.

Note. At the 1966 Census, in conformity with Section 127 of the Constitution, Aborigines were excluded from the published population. In 1967 the Constitution was altered to remove this provision, and the 1971 Census therefore includes Aborigines. In order to provide comparability between the two censuses the 1966 populations in this statement have been amended to include Aborigines and therefore differ from the 1966 populations previously published

For explanatory notes and criteria for the delimitation of urban boundaries see Census of Population and Housing, 30 June 1971—Field Count Statement No. 9 (Reference Number 2.79).

Norte Becouse of the voluntary nature of the question on religion (Section 21 of the Censu and Statistics Act 1905-1964 states that no persons shall be liable to a peasily for not answering the question on religion), many persons do not gave details of their religion and this accounts for the comparatively testion stores in the not astessed category, in the 1971 (cross as the request for a large number of users of the data the for no religion, write 'more' 'was added to the question. The result has been a significant rise in the 'no religion' activory compared with previous creases and a fall in the 'not stated' category.

The classification of religious denominations was enlarged for the 1971 Census with the addition of Jehovah's Witness' and 'Muslim' previously included under 'Other Christian' and 'Other non-Christian' respectively.

NOTE. For the 1971 Census, qualifications were classified to five major levels. The levels were determined as follows:

Do: Lorate, Master's Degree or equivalent conferred by a university in recognition of substantial studies beyond the Bachelor level.

the Bachelor level.

Bachelor degree, post-graduate diploma or equivalent usually conferred by a university following a period of at least 3 years full-time study or equivalent part-time study.

Other tertury texchiding university degree or equivalent) a level relating to qualifications obtained following substantial advanced study beyond matriculation conferred by institutions and professional associations, e.g. Associate of Australian Society of Accountants, Diploma in Business Studies, Teaching Certificate, Diploma of Engineering.

Technician, a level which requires theoretical knowledge, as well as practical skills, e.g. wool classing or nursing. Certificates issued by technical colleges following periods of 4 or 5 years part-time study after passing intermediate or final secondary school examinations are classified as 'technician'

Trade, formal recognition of competency in a skilled manual occupation which is usually obtained through an apprenticeship and satisfactory progress in part-time studies concurrently with practical training (e.g. plumber, filter, compositor, carpenter, hairdresser).

Some qualifications could not be classified to any of the above levels. Most of these relate to short specialised courses in such fields as typewriting and shorthand, farm book-keeping, dressmaking, automotive maintenance.

EXPLANATORY NGTES: LABOUR FORCE, CENSUS, 30 JUNE 1971

For the 1971 Census, the term 'labour force' is used in place of 'work force' in conformity with the Bureau's quarterly population survey and with international usage.

The labour force is defined as those persons aged 15 years and over who answered 'yes' to any of the following questions on the 1971 Census Schedule.:

- (a) Did this person have a full or part-time job, or business or farm of any kind last week?
- (b) Did this person do any work at all last week for payment or profit?
- (c) Was this person temporarily laid off by his employer without pay for the WHOLE of last week?
- (d) Did this person look for work last week?

Thus the labour force comprises those persons who worked, those who had a job from which they were temporarily absent, those who were temporarily laid off without pay for the whole of the reference week and those who did not work, did not have a job and were actively looking for work.

Persons helping but not receiving wages or salary who usually worked less than 15 hours a week are excluded from the labour force. Bonded trainees (including trainee teachers) and cadets engaged in full-time study at educational institutions are also excluded, even though such institutions were conducted by their employer.

The unemployed members of the labour force are those persons who answered 'No' to Questions (a) and (b) and 'Yes' to Question (d) and hose who answered 'Yes' to Question (a). No' to Question (b) and 'Yes' to Question (c). Thus the unemployed consist of those persons who did no work during the reference week and either looked for work (having no job) or were temporarily laid off from a job.

This approach conforms closely to the recommendations of the Eighth International Conference of Lubour Statisticians held in Geneva in 1954 and to the approach used at the 1966 Census.

According to the definition any labour force activity during the previous week, however little, results in the person being counted in the labour force.

Thus many persons whose main activity is not a labour force one (e.g. housewite, full-time student) are drawn into the labour force by virtue of part-time or occasional labour force activity in the previous week. Answers to the question on usual major activity indicate that there were substantially more of such persons at the Census of 1971 than at the Census of 1966 and that they were predominantly females.

On the other hand, the definition excludes persons who may frequently or usually participate in the labour force but who in the previous week happened to have withdrawn from the labour force. Answers to the question on usual major activity indicate that there were substantially more of such persons at the Census of 1971 than at the Census of 1966, especially among males.

A similar definition of the labour force is used in the quarterly population sample survey conducted by the Bureau by the method of personal interview. This survey is used to measure changes in the labour force from quarter to quarter in the intercensal period.

Evidence from post-enumeration surveys and pilot tests indicates that the personal interview approach tends to identify a larger number of persons as in the labour force than does the filling in of the census questions on the schedule by the householder and that this tendency has increased between the 1966 and 1911 Censuses.

The above considerations should be borne in mind if comparisons of the total labour force or labour force participation rates are made between the 1966 and 1971 Censuses, or between the 1971 Census and the 1971 labour force quarterly estimates.

SURVEY OF WEEKLY EARNINGS (SIZE DISTRIBUTION), MAY 1971

- 1. A survey of weekly earnings was conducted for the pay-period which included 12 May 1971. The survey was conducted by means of stratified random samples of (i) private employers subject to payroll tax (that is those, other than exempt employers, paying more than 5400 a week in wages and salaries), (ii) public hospitals, and (iii) local government authorities; and in addition a complete coverage of (iv) Commonwealth and State government departments, government authorities and semi-government bodies. In the published results 'private employees' refer to those covered by categories (ii) and (iv) and (government employees' refer to those covered by categories (iii) and (iv).
- 2. This survey obtained estimates of the numbers and proportions of full-time adult male employees (paid for a full week) in various total weekly carnings groups, average weekly total carnings for these employees, and a dissection of average weekly total earnings into average weekly overtime earnings. So average weekly ordinary time carnings. Separate details were obtained for (a) male managerial, executive, professional and higher supervisory staff, and (b) other full-time adult male employees. The latter category includes full-time adult male minor supervisory employees, leading hands, efercial and office staff, and ordinary wages employees. Full-time adult males were defined as those whose normal hours of work are 30 or more and who were paid for their full normal hours of work for the specified pay-period.
- 3. The classification of weekly earnings groups specified in the survey for managerial, etc. staff differed from that specified for non-managerial employees. In the table on page 53 which shows a combination of the two earnings classifications, managerial, etc. staff earning 'up to 579.99' have been included in the groups '75.00 to 579.99'. Thus the figures for all earnings eroups below $80.00 in this table are subiect to some distortion.
- 4. It is known that some private employees in the Northern Territory are included on pay roll tax returns for some of the States. Thus these employees would not have been included in the survey estimates of private employers in the territory. Therefore, the survey estimates shown for private employees, and the combinations of private and government employees in the Northern Territory differ from the estimates that would have been obtained if all relevant employees in the territory had been recorded separately.
- 5. For more detailed explanatory notes and definitions of terms used in this survey and the following tables reference should be made to builtelin Survey of Weekly Enrings (Size Distribution) May 1971 (Reference No. 6.30) or Labour Report No. 56, 1971 (Reference No. 6.7). More detailed results of the survey will be found in the above publications and in the 1972 issue of this Summary.

(a) The statistics shown are based on returns received from government authorities, contractors and owner-builders who undertask the receive on of new buildings. Details obtained from government authorities and building contractors refer to all areas. Details for owner-buildiers cover only proclaimed health areas. Figures for houses exclude temporary shellings, sheeling, stacked to other buildings, sheels, this, etc. Each fails is counted as an inc'vidual living unit. Minor additions and alterations, renovations and repairs are excluded. Prior to 1 July 1966, additions of $10,000 and over to existing buildings are included with new buildings. The values of new buildings, and of the prior to 1 July 1966, alterations and/or additions of $10,000 and over are included with new buildings. The values of new buildings exclude the value of and and represent the estimated value of buildings on completion. (b) The values shown represent the estimated value of buildings during the year. For any buildings the sum of these values obtained during its construction equils the value of the buildings or completion.
